SECTION-A READING

I Read the following passage carefully:

Most people dislike the earthworm. But the earthworm is a very useful worm. It eats leaves and dirt. After eating, it throws out the waste food materials. These are called 'casts'. These casts make the soil fertile. That is why the ordinary earthworm is known as a farmer's friend.

Earthworms are underground farmers. They are hearty eaters- eating all the time. The astonishing thing is that earthworms neither have eyes nor noses. So, they eat anything they can find. Earthworms are in danger now. We use different kinds of chemicals to kill the insects that are harmful to plants. These chemicals kill earthworms too!

Answer the following question from the passage:

a) Who is known as the farmer's friend?

_____.

b) What is 'casts'?

_____.

c) What is the most astonishing thing about the earthworms?
